

PEND OREILLE COUNTY

1911

COUNTY SEAT: NEWPORT

Name apparently derived from the vernacular French “pendant d’oreille” (earring) – a term used by French-Canadian fur traders for Native people who wore shell ornaments in their ears.

Traditional home of Kalispel American Indian people

The beautiful Pend Oreille River flows north along glacial lakebeds and through the rugged gorges of the forested Selkirk Mountains to join the Columbia River just across the Canadian border. Washington’s youngest county is home to an astonishing variety of native wildlife , from bighorn sheep and mountain goat to deer, elk, mountain caribou, grizzly bear and cutthroat trout.

10-28-02

PEND OREILLE COUNTY

COUNTY SEAT: NEWPORT

1911

NAME APPARENTLY DERIVED FROM THE VERNACULAR FRENCH "PENDANT D'OREILLE" (EARRING) - A TERM USED BY FRENCH-CANADIAN FUR TRADERS FOR NATIVE PEOPLE WHO WORE SHELL ORNAMENTS IN THEIR EARS

TRADITIONAL HOME OF KALISPEL AMERICAN INDIAN PEOPLE

THE PEND OREILLE RIVER FLOWS NORTH ALONG GLACIAL LAKEBEDS AND THROUGH THE RUGGED GORGES OF THE FORESTED SELKIRK MOUNTAINS TO JOIN THE COLUMBIA RIVER JUST ACROSS THE CANADIAN BORDER. WASHINGTON'S YOUNGEST COUNTY IS HOME TO AN ASTONISHING VARIETY OF NATIVE WILDLIFE, FROM BIGHORN SHEEP AND MOUNTAIN GOAT TO DEER, ELK, MOUNTAIN CARIBOU, GRIZZLY BEAR AND CUTTHROAT TROUT.

12-28-56