HITS is a very specialized database and computer application system that is a highly utilized and successful resource managed by the AGO to provide critical crime investigative information to local, state and federal law enforcement agencies. The database includes five major data sources. Because of its ability to reveal relationships among data from various sources, the crime investigative information supplied by HITS is not available from any other single source.

As a two-year effort HITS was provided funding for two one-year upgrades. During the first year, data clean-up was completed along with the migration of HITS applications to Microsoft Visual Studio, the AGO standard development environment.

The second year of the upgrade, which has not yet been completed, is to improve the ability of HITS investigators to accomplish ad hoc database research and searches by developing a data mining tool, thereby increasing HITS' responsiveness to Requests for Information (RFIs) from law enforcement agencies (LEAs). The data mining tool will consolidate separate searches into a single search and allow for the production of crime maps and timelines.

To assure its continued viability and usefulness to the law enforcement community, the HITS database and application system needs to keep pace with the evolving demands of the law enforcement community and with evolving technology standards. Failure to do so will create an immediate and negative impact on the solvability of many major violent crimes.

The purpose of the amendment is to extend the operations and maintenance of the federally required HIPAA FE/MW components of Washington's existing MMIS system until the currently projected MNHCR Go-Live date of the ProviderOne system and also adds five one-month option periods as contingency in the event the projected go-live date is extended past the current projected date. This amendment is excepted from ESSB 5460 because the costs are necessary both to receive and maintain federal funds.

Provide public relations and communications consulting services to the Washington State Academy of Sciences.

By State statute, the Washington State Academy is mandated to serve State agencies and the Legislature. The Academy's mission is to provide expert scientific and energy information analysis to allow for informed public policy making in those arenas. Mr. Murphy is coordinating the effort to provide a communications package for outreach to the members of the Academy as well as community members and other State agencies including the Legislature. Mr. Murphy's assistance is essential for the mission of the Academy to be accomplished without the services of an Executive Director.

Deduct amendment adjusts the scope of work as originally defined in the statement of work and reduces the budget accordingly. The purpose of the contract is to pass along funding from the Federal Highway Administration, Western Association of State and Highway Transportation Officials (WASHTO), and individual WASHTO member states to the Western Governors' Association to develop recommendations and strategies to address key regional transportation challenges. Amendment is excluded from ESSB 5460 because it reduces funding.

This amendment extends the schedule, adjusts the scope, and provides an increased budget to continue this contract. This amendment funds the next phase of the Hanford Nuclear facility project, namely a revised design of a soil cover for filled trenches, cover soils suitability verification and cover design modeling, and finally facility site preparation. This Amendment has been granted an ESSB 5460 exemption based upon the work being "critically necessary".

Amendment adds funding for additional economic analysis services in order to compete for climate change federal stimulus funds (ESSB 5460 exception no. 8). The contractor will develop a climate mitigation strategy involving electric vehicle infrastructure in consultation with the Washington Department of Ecology. The strategy would involve a three-state (Washington, Oregon and California) collaboration to establish the infrastructure in all three states so a person could drive from Southern California to Northern Washington solely on electric power. Ecology will work with the Governor's Offices in the three states to develop a common vision document of this project that can be shared with all three states.

The purpose of this contract is to: The three Columbia Basin Project irrigation districts, Quincy-Columbia Basin (Quincy), East Columbia Basin (East), South Columbia Basin (South) and the Washington State Department of Ecology are proposing to prepare a Coordinated Water Conservation Plan (Plan) with the goal to identify conservation projects that will allow additional acreage to be served without disrupting the water supply to existing acreage. These projects are proposed to increase water conservation in an effort to address goals established in the December 2004 MOU between the Districts, DOE and the United States Bureau of Reclamation (USBR) and RCW 90.90, Columbia River basin water supply. The conserved water would be available as a replacement water supply for groundwater deliveries in the Odessa subarea, and offer mainstem drought relief and municipal and industrial water supply. On April 10, 2009 this contract was granted an ESSB 5460 exemption based upon the work being "critically necessary".

Amendment adds funding to continued investigative services regarding allegations of discrimination submitted by an employee and students of BCC. Additional funding is required due to increased complexity of the investigation and the necessity to have the consultant perform additional/multiple debriefing meetings. On April 20, 2009 Victor Moore granted an ESSB 5460 exemption based upon critical necessity. Based on the five day notification period to legislative committees, this exemption takes effect on April 27, 2009.
