Provide additional training and consultation in the HOMEBUILDERS service model for providers of Intensive Family Preservation Services. This Contract Amendment meets the requirements for an exception under the contract freeze established by ESHB 2921 in that the services provided are critically necessary. Intensive Family Preservation Services provided by contracted service providers are to prevent out-of-home placement of a minor child (including an adolescent) who is considered to be at imminent risk of placement due to abuse, neglect or severe family conflict. The HOMEBUILDERS® model of service delivery is the required model of service delivery for Intensive Family Preservation Services. The training and consultation for the HOMEBUILDERS® model of service delivery is available only through this contractor, because the contractor is the proprietor of the Homebuilders model and holds the copyright for the model.

This amendment was filed on 5/11 with a 5/20 start date. As a result, it is considered a late filing. The OFM Director made no decision regarding DSHS' Request for an Exemption under ESHB 2921 because it was a late filing.

Obtain services of Dr. Robert F. Anda to provide a 90 minute keynote address at the Research Symposium on Issues Facing Children and Families of the Incarcerated and Incarcerated Parents on January 25, 2011. The agency is requesting an exception to the contract freeze established by ESHB 2921. The Secretary of DSHS has determined that the services are critically necessary and has approved the contract for filing.

The services are critically necessary because:

As part of the implementation of E2SHB 1422 enacted in 2007, the Department of Social and Health Services leads a multi-sector research and data committee on children and families members of incarcerated persons. Part of the committee's activities in 2010 included the planning of the 2011 national research symposium.

The national research symposium was designed to bring together researchers, academics, and research-oriented practitioners to discuss current research on children and families of the incarcerated, including: disproportionality and disparity, the traumas that impact children of the incarcerated and the resilience and strength of children and families.

As part of the symposium, Dr. Anda did a keynote session focused on the wide range of health and social impacts resulting from adversity and toxic stress in childhood (e.g., having a family member who is incarcerated is one of nine identified adverse childhood experiences). In addition, Dr. Anda was available to provide consultation and guidance to symposium participants throughout the day through informal dialog opportunities.

Because this is a late filing, the OFM Director made no decision on the Freeze Exemption request for Robert Anda.
