To assist the Washington State Investment Board (WSIB) in the establishment of a robust travel risk management program for international travel.

As a necessary element for investment due diligence WSIB investment officers travel extensively internationally as they scour for good investment possibilities. Some of these are countries that pose health risks to our investment staff, some pose security risks and several pose both types of risks to WSIB travelers.

In light of recent travel experiences by some of our investment staff, both the Board and Executive Management in consultation with the firm which provides traveler health and extraction services determined that the WSIB needs to undertake a wholesale review and realignment of its travel risk management protocols. The contractor is a leading global firm in this regard.
