The DSHS Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (DSHS/DVR) contracts with 104 Community Rehabilitation Programs (CRP) that provide vocational assessments, job placement and intensive job training services for DVR clients who require Supported Employment jobs. The CRPs employ Supported Employment Specialists to deliver this service. Statewide, there is a high attrition rate among CRP Supported Employment Specialists (ranging from 15% to 50%) and, frequently, newly hired individuals begin their jobs without prior experience or training in CRP service delivery. Lack of training often compromises the quality and timeliness of services that newly hired CRP Supported Employment Specialists provide to DSHS/DVR clients. This is a particular concern when CRP services are being delivered to clients with the most significant disabilities who require complex community based assessment and job placement services to obtain supported employment positions.
