Five community and technical colleges have been awarded Hospital Employee Education Training (HEET) grants from the State Board for Community & Technical Colleges (SBCTC) - of which North Seattle Community College is one of five - to meet the growing demand for more well-trained healthcare workers in Washington. The 2008 legislature designated $1.5 million to SBCTC for labor, management and college partnerships to identify and fund innovative training programs leading to careers in nursing and other high-demand health care fields for current hospital workers.

The contracts requests SEIU Healthcare 1199NW to specify the work, deliverables, performance measures and budget for the work with North Seattle Community College's Health and Human Services Division.

Northwest Hospital (NWH) and SEIU Healthcare 1199NW formed a labor/managment committee and have had ongoing discussions on the need for incumbent worker training and advancement and the use of technology for training. This project will bring North Seattle Community College's pathway for healthcare careers to this established labor/management partnership for a collaboration that meets the objectives of the college and industry. This proposed program will help CNA's at NWH become LPNs and untimately RNs with a potential step out for those wishing to get a promotion as a Lab Assistant.
